

SCHEME OF RESEARCH

CRITICAL ISSUE OF OVERPOPULATION CRISIS FROM THE SCIENCE FICTION MOVIE OF AVENGERS INFINITY WAR

BY ANTHONY & JOSEPH RUSSO:

Background

The earth has finite resources while human population keep growing exponentially. Eventually, demand will outpace Earth's supply of food, water, fuel, and land, and mass-extinction will ensue for us, and possibly for all life. We will literally eat ourselves to death. This simple premise of overpopulation and how to deal with coersive method that against moral value still become the biggest concern as the critical issue in the movie of Avengers Infinity War.

Methods

The research was conducted through a qualitative approach with three different theories to analyze the movie. First, Malthus' theory deals with the theory of population. Second, Spencer's theory about social Darwinism on survival of the fittest. Third, Habermas' theory deal with moral discourse using rational action.

Benefits

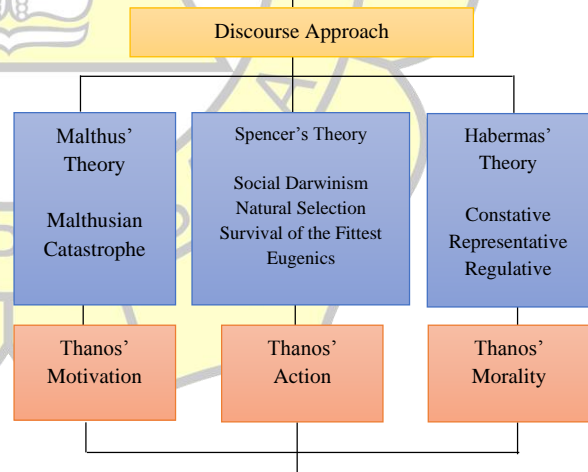

This research is expected to be useful for them who are interested in learning, understanding, and dealing on overpopulation issue with coersive method and its moral consequences as something that cannot be underestimated.

Research Findings

According to the analysis, Thanos' action in the movie of Avenger Infinity War is cannot be morally and factually justified. While Thanos' action on murder half of population is wrong, both of Thanos' notion and Malthus' theory on proving the exponential crisis of overpopulation still be questioned, UN Population Division disproves Malthus' theory by giving the projection data of population growth rate in 2100 that two centuries of rapid global population growth will come to an end as the human, as science, technology and health qualities are also improved over time.

Conclusion

The researcher finds that Thanos' fear on overpopulation crisis can be justified, but Thanos' notion comes from his own ego, not from mutual agreement, because according to the theory, justification on morality can only be achieved by consensus.

LISTENING

Your scaled score is between 400 and 495. Test takers who score around 400 typically have the following strengths:

- They can infer the central idea, purpose, and basic context of short spoken exchanges across a broad range of vocabulary, even when conversational responses are indirect or not easy to predict.
- They can infer the central idea, purpose, and basic context of extended spoken texts across a broad range of vocabulary. They can do this even when the information is not supported by repetition or paraphrase and when it is necessary to connect information across the text.
- They can understand details in short spoken exchanges, even when negative constructions are present, when the language is syntactically complex, or when difficult vocabulary is used.
- They can understand details in extended spoken texts, even when it is necessary to connect information across the text and when this information is not supported by repetition. They can understand details when the information is paraphrased or when negative constructions are present.

To see weaknesses typical of test takers who score around 400, see the *Proficiency Description Table.

READING

Your scaled score is between 350 and 450. Test takers who score around 350 typically have the following strengths:

- They can infer the central idea and purpose of a written text, and they can make inferences about details.
- They can read for meaning. They can understand factual information, even when it is paraphrased.
- They can connect information across a small area within a text, even when the vocabulary and grammar of the text are difficult.
- They can understand medium-level vocabulary. They can sometimes understand difficult vocabulary in context, unusual meanings of common words, and idiomatic usage.
- They can understand rule-based grammatical structures. They can also understand difficult, complex, and uncommon grammatical constructions.

To see weaknesses typical of test takers who score around 350, see the *Proficiency Description Table. If your performance is closer to 450, you should review the descriptors for test takers who score around 450.
