

CHAPTER 5

CONCLUSION

Based on the analysis of chapter III, through intrinsic approach which consists of characterization by showing and telling methods, plot, setting and I also elaborate with the extrinsic approach to analyze this novel. I use the concept of dimension of curiosity to describe the personality of Anna Johnson, which is caused by the death of her parents. The characterization, setting, and plot of this novel supports the concepts of dimension of curiosity. The result of intrinsic approach I elaborate with extrinsic approach. It proves that the theme of this novel is The Dimension of Curiosity on Anna Characters. This is because of Anna as the main character I analyze show dimension of curiosity in the way she behaves.

Anna curiosity arise because of her parents death. Her curiosity starting when she received the card at her house on the anniversary of her mother death. The card says that it is not suicide. From that day, Anna feels so curious about what happen with the death of her parents. She starts to find out the meaning of the card and wants to figure out who sent it. Anna comes to the police, But she meets with a retired police, Murray. Murray took the case even though it is not actually his job. He wants to help Anna to solve the case. They starts an investigation to collect evidence which cause of Anna parents death. After one by one the evidence is collected and Anna becomes more curious about that. She finds out that her mother still alive and Anna's mother fake her suicide. In the end of the story, we know who is the planner of Anna's parents fake suicide.

The moral teaching of this research is that everyone should have curiosity feelings in their lives. Curiosity also has benefits related to psychological, emotional, social and health. Because when you have curiosity in your life, you can try to find the answer to any questions and you are also able to gain knowledge from people with your curiosity feeling.

According to this research, it is potential for the next research to analyze Let Me Lie through another approaches or concepts. This research also can introduce the student of English Language and Culture Department about Dimension of Curiosity in literary work. This research also can use as comparison to write for a better analysis in the future.
