

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION

After examining the result analysis of The Perfect Mother Novel by Aimee Molloy the subject of characters Winnie which are the reflection hierarchy of the Needs concepts, can be concluded several things, as follows:

The writer conclude that an intrinsic approach could be used to analyze the perfect mother. The writer apply the showing method and telling method to find out the characters' characterization. The characters the writer analyze are Winnie and Francie, using five functional settings, The writer completely know the setting of the novel can support the research theme as well. And last, by using the concept of a plot, The writer discover a novel plot through exposition to resolution.

It is because after the writer analyze the novel, the main character, Winnie, shows her struggles and joys of being modern motherhood. Winnie is a single mom who just gave birth. Although Winnie is an introverted person, she joined a mommy group who also just gave birth. Winnie lost confidence in her friends, because she lost her child when she was with her friends at the bar. Winnie became tight-lipped from her friends during the incident. Winnie's group friends also try to help Winnie to find her baby without Winnie knowing. Winnie finally returned with her baby and was able to meet her friends again as before. How the group of mothers solved the problem that will resonate with women who themselves have children and have faced up to the societal and personal pressures. As in chapter four analysis about the Fulfillment Process of the Needs of Winnie, she fulfilled her hierarchy needs that are physiological, safety, social, esteem and self-actualization. Those five things of need that Winnie Gwendolyn Rose must to fulfill based on the character, the plot, and the setting. Winnie manages her needs and actualization by interacting and doing social activities even though she is an introverted person. Although Winnie is an introverted person and never share about her life because she does not trust her friends, but Winnie finally realizes that they are what Winnie needs in her life. The help from her friends to find her baby during her silence changes Winnie. The writer find it that The relationship between Winnie and her friends in the group gives us some moral messages. One of the messages is life is always up and down as well as in friendships. Sometimes when we are underneath feel that no one cares about us and cannot distinguish what is sincere and what is not. Winnie fulfills her hierarchy of needs in the circle of modern environment Motherhood experience difficulties, because of it and being help by her friends she is able to achieve cell-actualization in her life According to the research, Sociological approaches are potential for the next research. Since this is a book is classified as just published and there is no research that uses The Perfect Mother, people will be able to use this research by using another approaches such as sociological approaches, concept of symbol, and another psychological approaches.

The writer hopes that this research would be useful for the readers to give them new knowledge about hierarchy of human needs. This research can be used by other writers who conduct similar research as.
