Benefit: The research that I did outcome will participating on linguistics study, especially study of the post-structuralism which then can be beneficial for people, because this research contains, not only linguistics aspect, but also psychology and social gap. Through semiotic analysis, all of the outcomes of this research will give a new point of view about mental condition. The research I did may hopefully be beneficial to people who love pragmatic that contains critical ideas from variety of point of view.

Research Finding: This research can introduce us to what the symptoms and signs of mental disorders look like. This research uses semiotic analysis theory, so that the symptoms and signs of mental disorder can be described.

Background: Film has its own artistic value because film is created as a work of creative professionals who are professional in their fields. Films as art objects should be judged artistically not rational. film, together with other artistic media, has the basic characteristics of other media which are interwoven in various forms. One of the psychology genre films is entitled A Beautiful Mind. A Beautiful Mind A Beautiful Mind represent what mental disorders are like, especially in schizophrenic disorders. Films are generally built with a lot of marks. The signs are collaborated to achieve the desired effect.

Method of The Research: In this study, i used a qualitative approach with descriptive methods. I describe the fact about mental disorders in the film A Beautiful Mind. I used charles pierce theory which divides up icons, indexes, and symbols. In this study the data were collected through direct observation of the appropriate data. The research instrument is primary data in the form of an electronic document in the form of A Beautiful Mind film with Indonesian subtitles, then selected visuals or images from the film scenes required for the research. The research also takes secondary data in the form of written documents such as A Beautiful Mind film reference from the internet, reference books, and lecture notes. The research techniques I use are observation and documentation. I made observations by watching and observing dialogues, as well as scenes in the film A Beautiful Mind.

Conclusion: The signs of mental disorder seen in John Nash such as tension, perception disorder, hallucinations, illusions, derealization, and depersonalization, personality disorder, disturbance of lifestyle, distraction of attention, impaired volition, impaired feelings or emotions, disturbance of thoughts or thought processes, psychomotor disorders, and associated disorders. From the above signs and symptoms that are more visible in John Nash are perception disorder and personality disorder, because John Nash has schizophrenia so that he is overshadowed by hallucinations, the illusion of derealization and depersonalization.
