

CHAPTER 5

CONCLUSION

Based on the data analysis on the previous chapter, there are five types of swear found in “The End of The Fing World” series season one movie script such as : sex term, excretion term, body part term, animal term, and death term. Swear words from each types of swear counted and accumulated in total 54 word and phrases.

Based on the data analysis, there are five speech act classification of intention of swear found in “The End of The Fing World” series season one movie script such as : assertives, directives, declarations, rpressive, and commissives. Intention of swear word from each speech act classification counted and accumulated in total 56 words.

Based on the analysis, I found that the use of swear words not only to express negative emotions such as anger, frustration and upset but I found out in “The End of The Fing World” series season one movie script the emotion that Alyssa’s shows also express certain emotions such as happy, shame, confused, awkward, command and many more. In analyzing the types of swear and the intention of swear I believed that this reseach could help the readers of this research in understanding more deeply the use of swear words in “The End of The Fing World” series season one movie script.

In this series, I could say there are two types of swear words that mostly used by character Alyssa in this series than the other three types they are sex term and excretion term. In sex term the words fuck and fucking very often said by the character Alyssa it feels like it is her habit to put the word fuck in the middle of the sentence she says, I think that the title of this series really shows the character of Alyssa which is the main character in this series, Instead of “The End of The World” it go by “ The End of The Fing World” which shows how barbaric and chaos Alyssa is. the title of this series also seems to show that indeed the majority of this series will be filled with swear words. excretion word such as Shit also often used by Alyssa. it more like she used Fuck then Shit and the rest of it she use prick, dick, bitch and hell. So thats why The character Alyssa mostly use the two types of swear sex term and excretion term than the other three types of swear.

I suggest to linguistics student as the next researchers who are interested in doing research with similar topic regarding to the swear words analysis, to explore more deeper in the study of swear words because there are so many thing that can be analyzed. Since there are many theories from various experts which concern about swear words and also maybe the next reseachers be able to try interview or observation as a way to collect the data since there are not many of them doing self-collecting data in swear words analysis most of them using songs, books, novels, or even movie and series. And maybe for the next researchers, it would be nice to make research to analyze translation error in swear words, that would be interesting.
