

CHAPTER 5 CONCLUSION

Everyone has their own personality. After I analysis Movie The Platform,script through an intrinsic approach, consisting of characterizations, plots,and the background of the story is explained by analysis through an extrinsic approach using the theory of Life Instinc. It can be concluded that Life instinct in the Platform Film Script can be analyzed through a Literary Psychology Approach. The result of the intrinsic approach describe with an extrinsic approach to prove that the theme of this research is Analysis of Life Instinc in The Movie Script The Platforms.

Indeed, there is a Life Instinc in the character of Goreng. Dramatic Viewing Method is a method used to analyze characterizations in the film script of The Platform, can be proven in the character of Goreng is about discovering the survival instincts and want to change the prison system. Life instinct for survival and actions that Goreng must take, because he needs food to eat every day in the hole, even he was forced to eat the flesh of his friend to survive. Goreng must also take action kill or be killed, He realized that the crazy system that was enforced in this prison made him want to fight for everyone in the prison. That characterization will prove Life Instinc in the character Goreng from the script of this film.

Plots to analyze problems the novel and its resolution at the end. Settings to define each set situations and conditions in the novel.Then I conclude that and Life instinct extrinsic approach that can used to analyze the film script of The Platform. To support this I use theory Psychoanalysis by Sigmund Freud and as supporting theory using Life Instinc Theory to understand in exploring character.

We can learn a lot of moral lessons from this movie, which is the moral value of this study. The first and possibly most crucial thing is to avoid being a stingy and ungrateful person. One of the characters in the movie claims that "the food would reach the lowest level if everyone ate only what they needed!"

This statement tells us that everyone will flourish if they each take according to their individual parts and needs. In addition, The Platform instructs us to avoid being apathetic and to be empathic. It is simpler to remain mute and indifferent in a situation similar to the one in the movie, especially if you hold the position of authority. But everyone can become a person like that by taking inspiration from the main character's fight for universal justice. Because doing small things to be fair is sufficient, you don't need to act in a grand manner to be fair.
