

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION

After Examining the result analysis of My Husband's Wife Novel by Jane Corry the subject of character Lily which is the reflection of love and hate concepts, can be concluded several things, as follows:

Lily finds her true love. She loves Ed so much. She finds Ed's proof of his love to her. He is interested her because he is different from other man. She likes all the things that she has now. It begins when Lily suspicious of Ed's loves. At the first, she does not want to talks to Ed about his ex girlfriend. Finally she starts to jealous of all things about his ex girlfriend. Ed wants to convince her that is he only loves her. Their marriage does not seems happily like before. Ed married another girl named Carla, they have a baby girl. Before Ed marry Carla, they both are never seems attracted to each other, in fact, Carla admires him. She feels comfort when she is with Ed. Lily does not believe it when she knows that Carla is pregnant because of Ed. Moreover, Ed sends a divorce letter to her. She can not do anything to keep Ed stay with her. Lily starts to hates Carla. After Ed married Carla, Lily still have good connection with Carla but in her deep heart she really hates Carla. Lily loves Ed so much, that is why Lily still take care of Carla.

In a very short time after Ed married Carla, then Ed is found dead. The police states that Carla is a murderer of Ed's death, but Lily does not believe it. Carla asks Lily to help set her free from prison and reveals who the murderer is. At the beginning Lily does not want to help Carla but, finally Lily accepts it. She does not wants to help Carla to reveals this case, but because of Ed is her ex husband. So she tries her best to help Carla to get the murderer of Ed's death case. There is someone who kills him. Lily believes it. She starts her investigation. She knows that Carla and Ed are fighting each other with a knife in Ed's house. They are fight because of Ed judge Carla that she cheats on him. In fact, Ed dies because of his own fault. He judges Carla that Poppy is not his daughter. At the end, Carla is stay in prison as a murderer and she married another man. Also Lily, she married another man and she can moves on from Ed.

The moral value of this analysis is if there is someone who loves us, we have to trust. Not every people can show their love. Try to be honest to yourself and to people who love you. From Lily we can learn about family, and faith. We have to give a great sense of sympathy to each others, even for the people who have treat us bad. If there is someone who makes us disappointed, do not hate them. Just like what Lily shows to us, she still be kind, even if Carla stole Ed from her, Ed does not tells her about his engangement with his ex girlfriend. She has a spirit for everything, humble, careful and polite. Be positive thinking to the fate of God. At the end God will shows what the best for us and we have to thankful to God. Without Him, we are nothing in this world.

According to this research, it is potential for the next research. There are only a few journals and researches that discuss and analyze literature works by using triangular love and hate theory especially the theory from Robert J. Sternberg and Krech. This research can introduce about triangular love theory and hate theory its application in literary works. This novel, My Husband's Wife, is also still new by the time this research is conducted. It is still wide open to new possible findings that can be analyzed in this novel. The result of this research can become a reference in analyzing triangular love and hate in literature work as well as next research about novel My Husband's Wife.
