

CHAPTER 5

CONCLUSION

After I analyzing A Quiet Place movie script through the intrinsic approach, which consisting of characterization, plot, and setting of the story elaborated with analysis through extrinsic approach using the theory of Fear and Struggle. It can be concluded that the A Quiet Place in Beck and Woods's movie script can be analyzed through a Literary Psychology Approach. The result of the intrinsic approach that I described with the extrinsic approach to prove that the theme of this research is The Main Character's Fear and Struggle in Beck and Woods's Movie Script A Quiet Place.

Characterization Through The Actions Of The Characters of Showing is the method that be used to analyze the characterization of the characters in the A Quiet Place by Beck and Woods's. It can be proven in Lee and Evelyn's character that they have smart, brave, and willing to sacrifice behavior. That characterization will prove Fear and Struggle in the character Lee and Evelyn's from this movie.

Plot and setting are used to analyze the movie script by Beck and Woods's movie script entitled A Quiet Place. The exposition begins when Abbott family was in town looking for supplies and medicine for their sick child, we can see a town that was shown very quiet and there is no people at all, the town is very messy not even a single sound could be heard, everything is very quiet and they communicating using sign language. Complication begins when on the way home from the town, the youngest child takes batteries from the shop and the child loads them into his toy airplane, which lights up and makes a loud noises and from inside the woods we could hear the sound of creatures approaching because of the noises, the mother could only fall limply to the ground, the father ran while holding back his screams. From behind the trees it was heard that the creature was getting closer and closer. The father kept running in fear to save his child, but it was too late, his youngest child was killed by the creature, they all could not believe what had happened and felt sad and scared. The crisis comes when Lee takes his son Marcus to travel with him because he would teach him way to survive in this situation, when Lee and Marcus are on their way home through the woods, swamps and abandoned houses, there is an old man and his wife who have died because she were killed by the creature. Because the old man did not accept his wife death, the old man scream very loudly. Lee immediately carried Marcus and ran hide behind a tree while covering Marcus mouth, then we can hear the sound of the creature approaching through the woods and finally killed the old man. Falling action in this movie script begins when they tried to escape and help each other from the creature and Lee sacrificed himself for his children. The resolution in this movie script is when Regan and Marcus reunite with their mother Evelyn after their father Lee died, and fight the rest of the creatures who wants to attack them with the creatures weaknesses using high frequency sounds and shot gun.

The theory of the literary psychology used in A Quiet Place in movie script is Fear and Struggle. All the theory are elaborated with an intrinsic approach, namely characterization, plot, and setting methods.

The theme is proven by using an intrinsic and extrinsic approach is The Main Character's Fear and Struggle in Beck and Woods's Movie Script A Quiet Place. It is proven by elaborating the extrinsic approach, which is the theory of Fear and Struggle with and intrinsic approach that is characterization, plot, and setting methods.

The moral of this research is that surviving takes planning because we need proper planning to live our life. Learn how to forgive yourself, talk to those you hurt and most importantly forgive yourself because the person you hurt already forgive you. Protect each other no matter what especially in your family. And always keep a close on your kids, you have to watch your children all the time because we never know when something bad is going to happen.

According to this research, there is potential for further research to analyze A Quiet Place movie script through other approaches and concepts. This research can introduce other student about Fear and Struggle in this movie script and find
