

CHAPTER 5

CONCLUSION

Based on the analysis, there are five genders inequality that depicted in song lyrics in Happier Than Ever album. There are Gender and marginalization, Gender and subordination, Gender and stereotype, Gender and violence, and Gender and burden.

In the song lyrics, gender inequalities are reflected through the use of figurative languages. The gender inequality that depicted on the song lyrics in Happier Than Ever album are about the life of Billie Eilish. The gender inequality that happened in her life affects her mental health. In the lyrics, as an audience, people are learning about how Billie survives her life problem. The gender inequality that Billie receives are usually from social media, by people who talked about her appearance and her body shape. She also receives gender inequality during her time in Hollywood industry by facing a pedophilia and people who only cares for her when she was famous. She also experiences the difficulties in relationship. In which, people that dated her only want her because she was innocent, and she could be easy to get play with, and also, they can do revenge porn anytime they want because they always record every single move that Billie made when they were spending time with her.

As the result of gender inequality that she experiences in her life, as depicted on the Happier Than Ever album, she cannot trust other people easily and giving them several reason to stay. Such as, signing some agreement after seeing her in the street. This caused by the action of man who places women under them, which in this case, is because people are objectify her by stalking her and spilling her location to other people to create a mobbed people. People also love to add some comments about her body and what she wears rather than focusing on her music. Billie also has difficulties on her relationship because she experiences gender inequality in there because the man in the relationship is belittle her because she is the woman in the relationship. Based on the song lyrics, Billie feels that it is very easy to make women to obedient with men because men have power to abuse women very easily, even only with the words.

In order to get away with gender inequality, it should have an unwritten agreement for a lot of parties regarding the gender equality in certain area. Such as, in society, people have to be more careful to speak to other people, especially women. Because, as a person, people do not know what is the struggle that they had in behind the scene. Also, people should learn to filter what they want to say regarding other people's appearance in social media, because it is bullying and people never realize that words cut deeper than knife to someone.

The gender inequality should have not happened to every gender. Because, every human seeks an equal treatment and they have their rights to have a peaceful life. Doing bullying is an inhumane action, especially if people are doing it in social media.
