

CHAPTER 5

CONCLUSION

In connection with the problem formulation and analysis in the previous chapter in J.D Vance's Hillbilly Elegy movie script using an intrinsic approach and an extrinsic approach through psychology, I can finally draw a conclusion. After analyzing the movie script, I conclude that an intrinsic approach can be used to analyze the movie script Hillbilly Elegy. I apply the show method to understand the characterization of some people in the film. The characters I analyze are J.D Vance as the main character, Beverly, and Mamaw who connect this film, they strengthen each other to reveal their characterizations.

J.D Vance as the main character of loneliness and easy going. Conditions, situations, place, time, and atmosphere in the hospital, in the car, yard, campus, in the house, especially the family living room, support the five kinds of settings. The plot also supports the characterizations and settings in this movie script. Plot also establishes the chronology of an event because plot is used to explain events that have been made by the director, or the main part of the movie script.

I found that the effects of abusive disorder on children consist of decreased achievement in school, moody, being rude, disrespectful. And also, abusive disorder is divided into several, namely emotional abuse, physical abuse, Negligence and verbal abuse. Beverly's abusive attitude emerged when she started taking heroin. When Beverly took heroin, she passed on her abusive attitude to her two children. Abusive treatment that he gave both physical and verbal artists. When the effects of the heroin wear off, Beverly's behavior is normal again, even Beverly apologizes to her children.

I found abusive disorder in Beverly's character, which is where Beverly suddenly screams in the street with bloodied hands. Beverly is frustrated that her father died. When her children wanted to calm her down, Beverly slapped her son and called her a little bitch. J.D Vance, shocked at his mother's attitude, was comforted by his grandmother Mamaw. I found the theme of this film to develop using the results of the analysis of the intrinsic approach and extrinsic approach. The intrinsic approach consists of a characterization method that shows the method, plot, and setting. All elements have elaborations to support the theme of the movie

The plot explains the structure and setting of J.D Vance's events and actions in the film. The setting represents the time and place of J.D Vance's action film and other characters. Extrinsicly through the of abusive disorder, it also supports the movie script theme.

I hope this research is able to provide abusive disorder on children. And I also hope that this research is able to provide
