

CHAPTER 5

A. CONCLUSION

The character Claudia Delaney's jealousy is included in external element, which is jealousy, fear of loss, suspicion or anger about perceived betrayal, sadness over perceived loss, and fear of losing.

An important person to another, sexual jealousy, and romantic jealousy. Where the main character Quinn finds out that Claudia has Bipolar Disorder and has not taken the medicine in a long time and there are findings regarding intrinsic elements. And by using the psychological approach of Sybil L Hart in the Handbook of Jealousy. The examples contained in this novel are :

1. The character Claudia Delaney had jealousy over Quinn in romantic or her lifestyle
2. Show Love jealousy to Quinn and stab her in the abdomen and put her in the trunk
3. Claudia attempted to murder Rosalie but failed because Rosalie fought back to protect herself

B. Suggestion

After completing the research about an internal element of jealousy in the Do Not Disturb novel, the researcher can provide some suggestions as follows:

1. For the Future which intends to do the same research, the researcher suggests that the next researcher will apply a better data display and better discussion, also to find better reference resources to make better research.
2. For people who like literary works, The researcher suggests paying better attention to jealousy, especially the internal element in literature, because it has an important role in the literature itself.