

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION

After analyzing these song lyrics I can conclude that the intrinsic approaches can be used to analyze these song lyrics. The titles of the song lyrics that I analyzed by Meghan Elizabeth Trainor are Ain't Your Mama, Dear Future Husband, and No. I apply poetic diction to know the general meaning, the particular meaning, the theme, the point of view, the denotation, the cliché, the figurative of speech, the atmosphere, the motif, the satire, and the doctrine of these song lyrics. Also by using the concept of figurative of speech these song lyrics can be known on the repetition, the hyperbole, and the paradox.

Then I also conclude that the extrinsic approach can be used to analyze these song lyrics. I use the concept of liberal feminism. The poetic diction of these song lyrics support the concepts liberal feminism. I also elaborate between the intrinsic and extrinsic analysis. It proves that the theme of these song lyrics is liberal feminism.

It is explained, these song lyrics are very representative about feminist liberal woman life today which means to women get her own worth and value, and women should be treated with equality and respect on women's pride. Trainor's song lyrics which show a reflection of liberal feminism say women fight for similarity, legality, equality, dignity, rights, equal rights, equal opportunity and the freedom. All of these are to control and determine the course of her own life to men with the recognition and the respect for human rights. Those are inherent to every person especially women, where men and women have equal rights and opportunities. Both creatures have the rationality that presented at the song lyrics. The moral teaching on these song lyrics are to make woman confident that she should be treated right by her life partner with showing his effort into their relationship and their life together. In the second place, those are to make woman be confident that she should get gifts as a housewife that suited to her duties and her expectations and well treatment in the marriage. Even more, those are to make woman be confident that she should keep her independence value and pride to be approached by man.

This research can give us something that we can learn in life. If we have relationship we have to realize that woman should be treated well. A woman has rights, pride, and independence value. A woman is precious, valuable, and worth. If a man can not respect and equalizes the position of women's rights, it will be continued the discrepancy between women and men and the persistence of discrimination against women.

After analysing these song lyrics, if we cultivate gender discrimination between women and men, there will be high gaps and it will be increased by liberal feminists who demand their rights and pride with equality rewarded. As suggestion, by understanding the poetic diction and philosophy that exist in this term paper easily the readers can see the theme of this research. They also can get a lesson and moral values from this term paper. This term paper makes the writer realizes that a woman should be struggled to bear her life with her pride, independence value, and her rights. Woman struggles to release feminism from an oppressive gender role as a woman. Based on the equality, equity, and reciprocity we know that woman should be treated well and recognized in the equal position, the same potency, and having harmonious life with the liberal feminism thinking. It demands men to treat a woman right with worth and valuable as the goal of liberal feminism from liberal feminist. Beside that for the student of English Department especially those who are interested in these song lyrics, these song lyrics is analyzed through of new perspective, philosophical analysis or other concepts.
